Bab,
I got to really know you this year,
and I wish I didn't!
You are always the main man
on campus.

Cal

Time is such a fickle thing. It remains aloof from mankind, conforming only to its own peculiar whim. Time is as slow as the endless eternity between 3:05 and 3:10, and as swift as the instant between freshman and senior. All men strive to make time meaningful, but few can really ever understand it.

Central Catholic has conquered the puzzling mystery of time. The essence of the school is captured in the way time is made meaningful. Central releases time from its doleful duty of circular meanderings around a clock, and structures around the fleeting commodity, meaning, purpose and experience. The red-brick "castle" on Fifth Avenue gathers together hundreds of individuals from every neighborhood of Pittsburgh's industrial metropolis between the rivers, from every circumstance, every background, every ideology, and unifies them with direction, purpose and most importantly, Catholic education. In both the good moments and bad, Central is a community which utilizes time to the utmost, rather than an institution which falls victim to it.

Yet, time still remains crafty enough to successfully allude being chronicled. To hope to hold time at bay is an empty wish. Instead, we must hope to capture an instant, a moment, an action or idea.

"The subordination of all individual desires and opinions to the call of duty has given meaning and nobility to life... Seeing our duty as a call, and the call as a vocation."

BONHOEFFER

A warm, personable, understanding guidance counselor—likewise an efficient one—BROTHER JUSTIN MANGAN, F.S.C. has been an integral part of the Central Catholic state of affairs.

Central pauses at the twenty-fifth anniversary of this man's life as a Christian Brother, and with good reason, for it has benefited for twelve of these years. Brother spent four years at Central from 1955 to 1959, serving at various times as teacher of religion and history, moderator of junior varsity football and intramural sports and as Prefect of Discipline. After an absence of five years, Brother returned to Central in 1964 where he has since served as Director of Guidance and Senior Class Counselor. In his capacity as Director of Guidance, his time is not his own, for he gives it cheerfully to either students or teachers.

The past twenty-five years for Brother Justin have been filled with faithful service to youth and personal accomplishment. For in him we have not only a vowed religious but also a professional man. Cordiality and interest in others, coupled with a high respect for his vocation, keynote Brother Justin—and a sound Christian school.

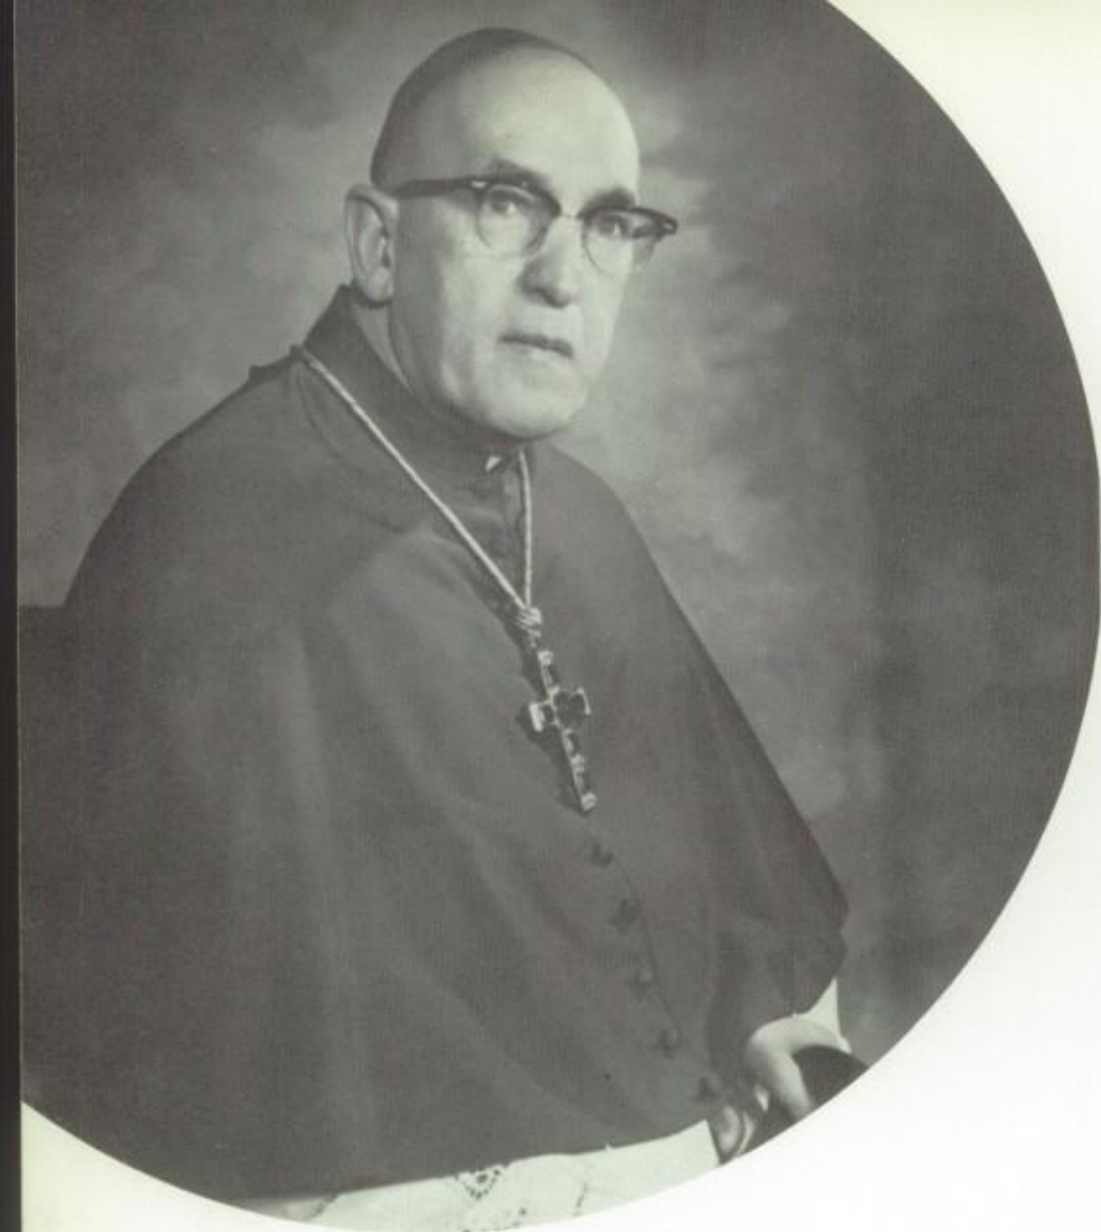

The evidence of Brother Justin's work is both impressive and imperceptible—impressive in the number of students he has guided on both academic and personal levels—imperceptible in that the real end of his labors has not been merely getting seniors placed in college or prepared for some other post-high school plans, but being available to each of us as persons, reflecting Christian joy in his warm smile. The distinction lies mainly in the intangible world of grace and prayer.

Brother Justin's response to God over the years has been a daily commitment to dedicated Christian idealism and faith. The vocation of a Brother is a total commitment.

The 1972 TOWERS, which commemorates the common commitment of the entire Central Community is dedicated to Brother Justin with gratitude and sincere best wishes for his continued life of service.

FACULTY STANDOUTS

If actions do, indeed, speak louder than words, then a man of exemplary accomplishments and vocal expertise must truly be an outstanding individual. Such a man is BROTHER RENE STERNER, F.S.C.

Since 1960, Brother Rene has served the community of Central Catholic as both faculty member and administrator. As a multi-talented and enlightening instructor, he has taught English, history and religion to hundreds of Central students. Largely through his tireless effort, ingenuity and initiative, Brother Rene's four year tenure from 1967 to 1971 as the Vice-principal for Academic Affairs marked the establishment of Central's present program of independent study, broad elective course offerings and many other progressive developments. In the midst of these outward changes, Brother Rene held firmly to the belief that school must be a place of learning and development of the individual.

Under his able leadership and direction, the Central Catholic Forensic Society developed into one of the most widely respected extra-curricular speech organizations in the country. In this facet of his personality, Brother Rene's excellent talents are shared with others beyond the corridors of Central. He has served as Diocesan Director of the Catholic Forensic League in Pittsburgh since 1962, as a member of the Pittsburgh National Forensic League Board of Directors and on numerous state-wide speech organizations. His abilities have won him national prominence, and every executive office of the National Catholic Forensic League, including the past two years as President of the NCFL. Brother Rene has accepted these honors, with their demanding responsibilities, with the same manner of integrity, efficiency and dedication which have marked his days at Central.

Brother Rene's dedication to Central and to his numerous other responsibilities is all the more enhanced by his state in life. As a Christian Brother, he is a witness to deep personal faith in God and responsibility to others. There is a steadfastness about Brother Rene which probably stems from his hope in "Divine Providence." Surely, such a remarkable man deserves recognition as a Faculty Standout.

Speaking about the American community, Daniel Boorstin, a noted historian, stated, "Nothing is more mysterious or more obvious, more fragile or more durable, than what holds us Americans together." The same holds true for the community of Central Catholic. What holds Central together is sacrifice, interest, responsibility, spirit, dedication, understanding, and energy. Each of these qualities is exemplified by BROTHER BENEDICT OLIVER, F.S.C.

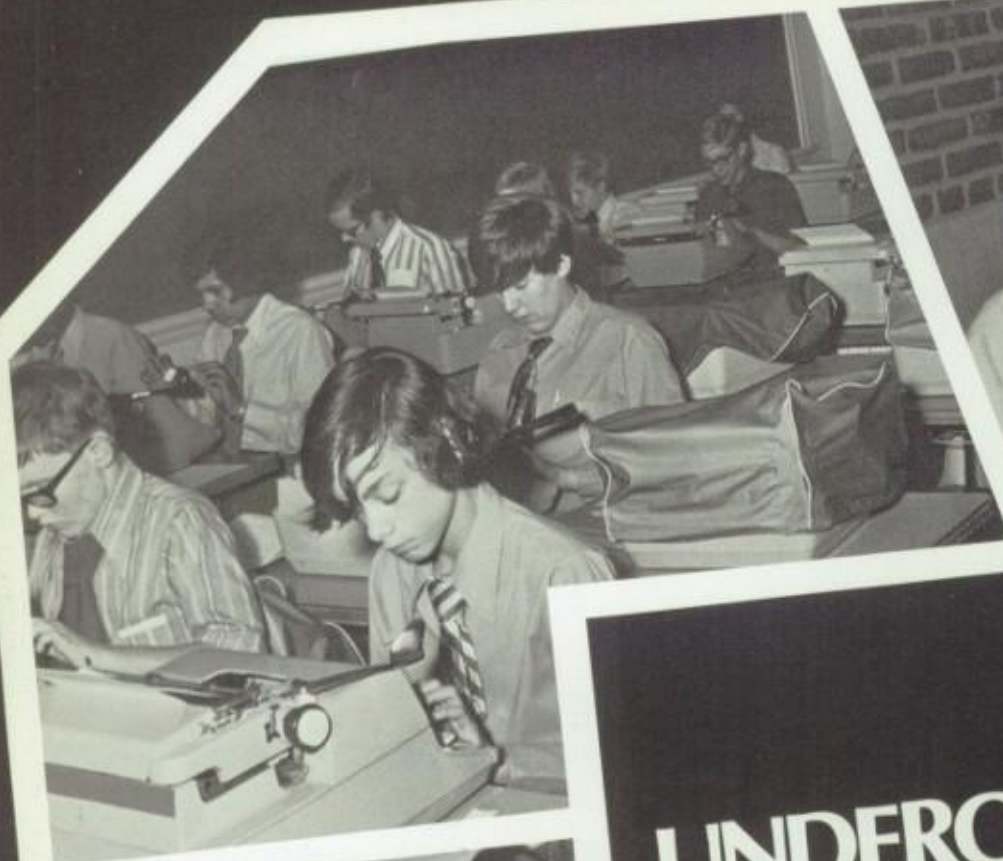

Standing in the halls discussing anything ranging from the role of Artemus in the "Hippolytus" to a student's personal problems, he has mastered the art of faculty-student communication. Never too busy to discuss any subject at any time, he completes a student's day with his timely comments and quick wit.

When not in direct contact with the general student body, Brother Benedict all but runs the school from Room 116. It is from there that he moderates the VIKING, directs the Mothers' Guild, designs the costumes for the productions of the Masque, heads the English Department and administers the annual Summer School Session.

These contributions alone would justify his selection as a Faculty Standout. But Brother's most outstanding contribution to the lifestream of Central has yet to be mentioned. His true talent lies in his style of teaching. Making even the choral odes of Greek tragedy seem fascinating, he adds a distinctive flair to the subject matter by all but acting out the literary work under discussion. His interpretations are concise and never found lacking.

For eleven years, Brother Benedict has given of himself to the students at Central Catholic. Every moment of these years has been dedicated to instilling a Christian philosophy of education into them. Everyone who has come in contact with him is thankful for the time and energy he has put into making education something special.

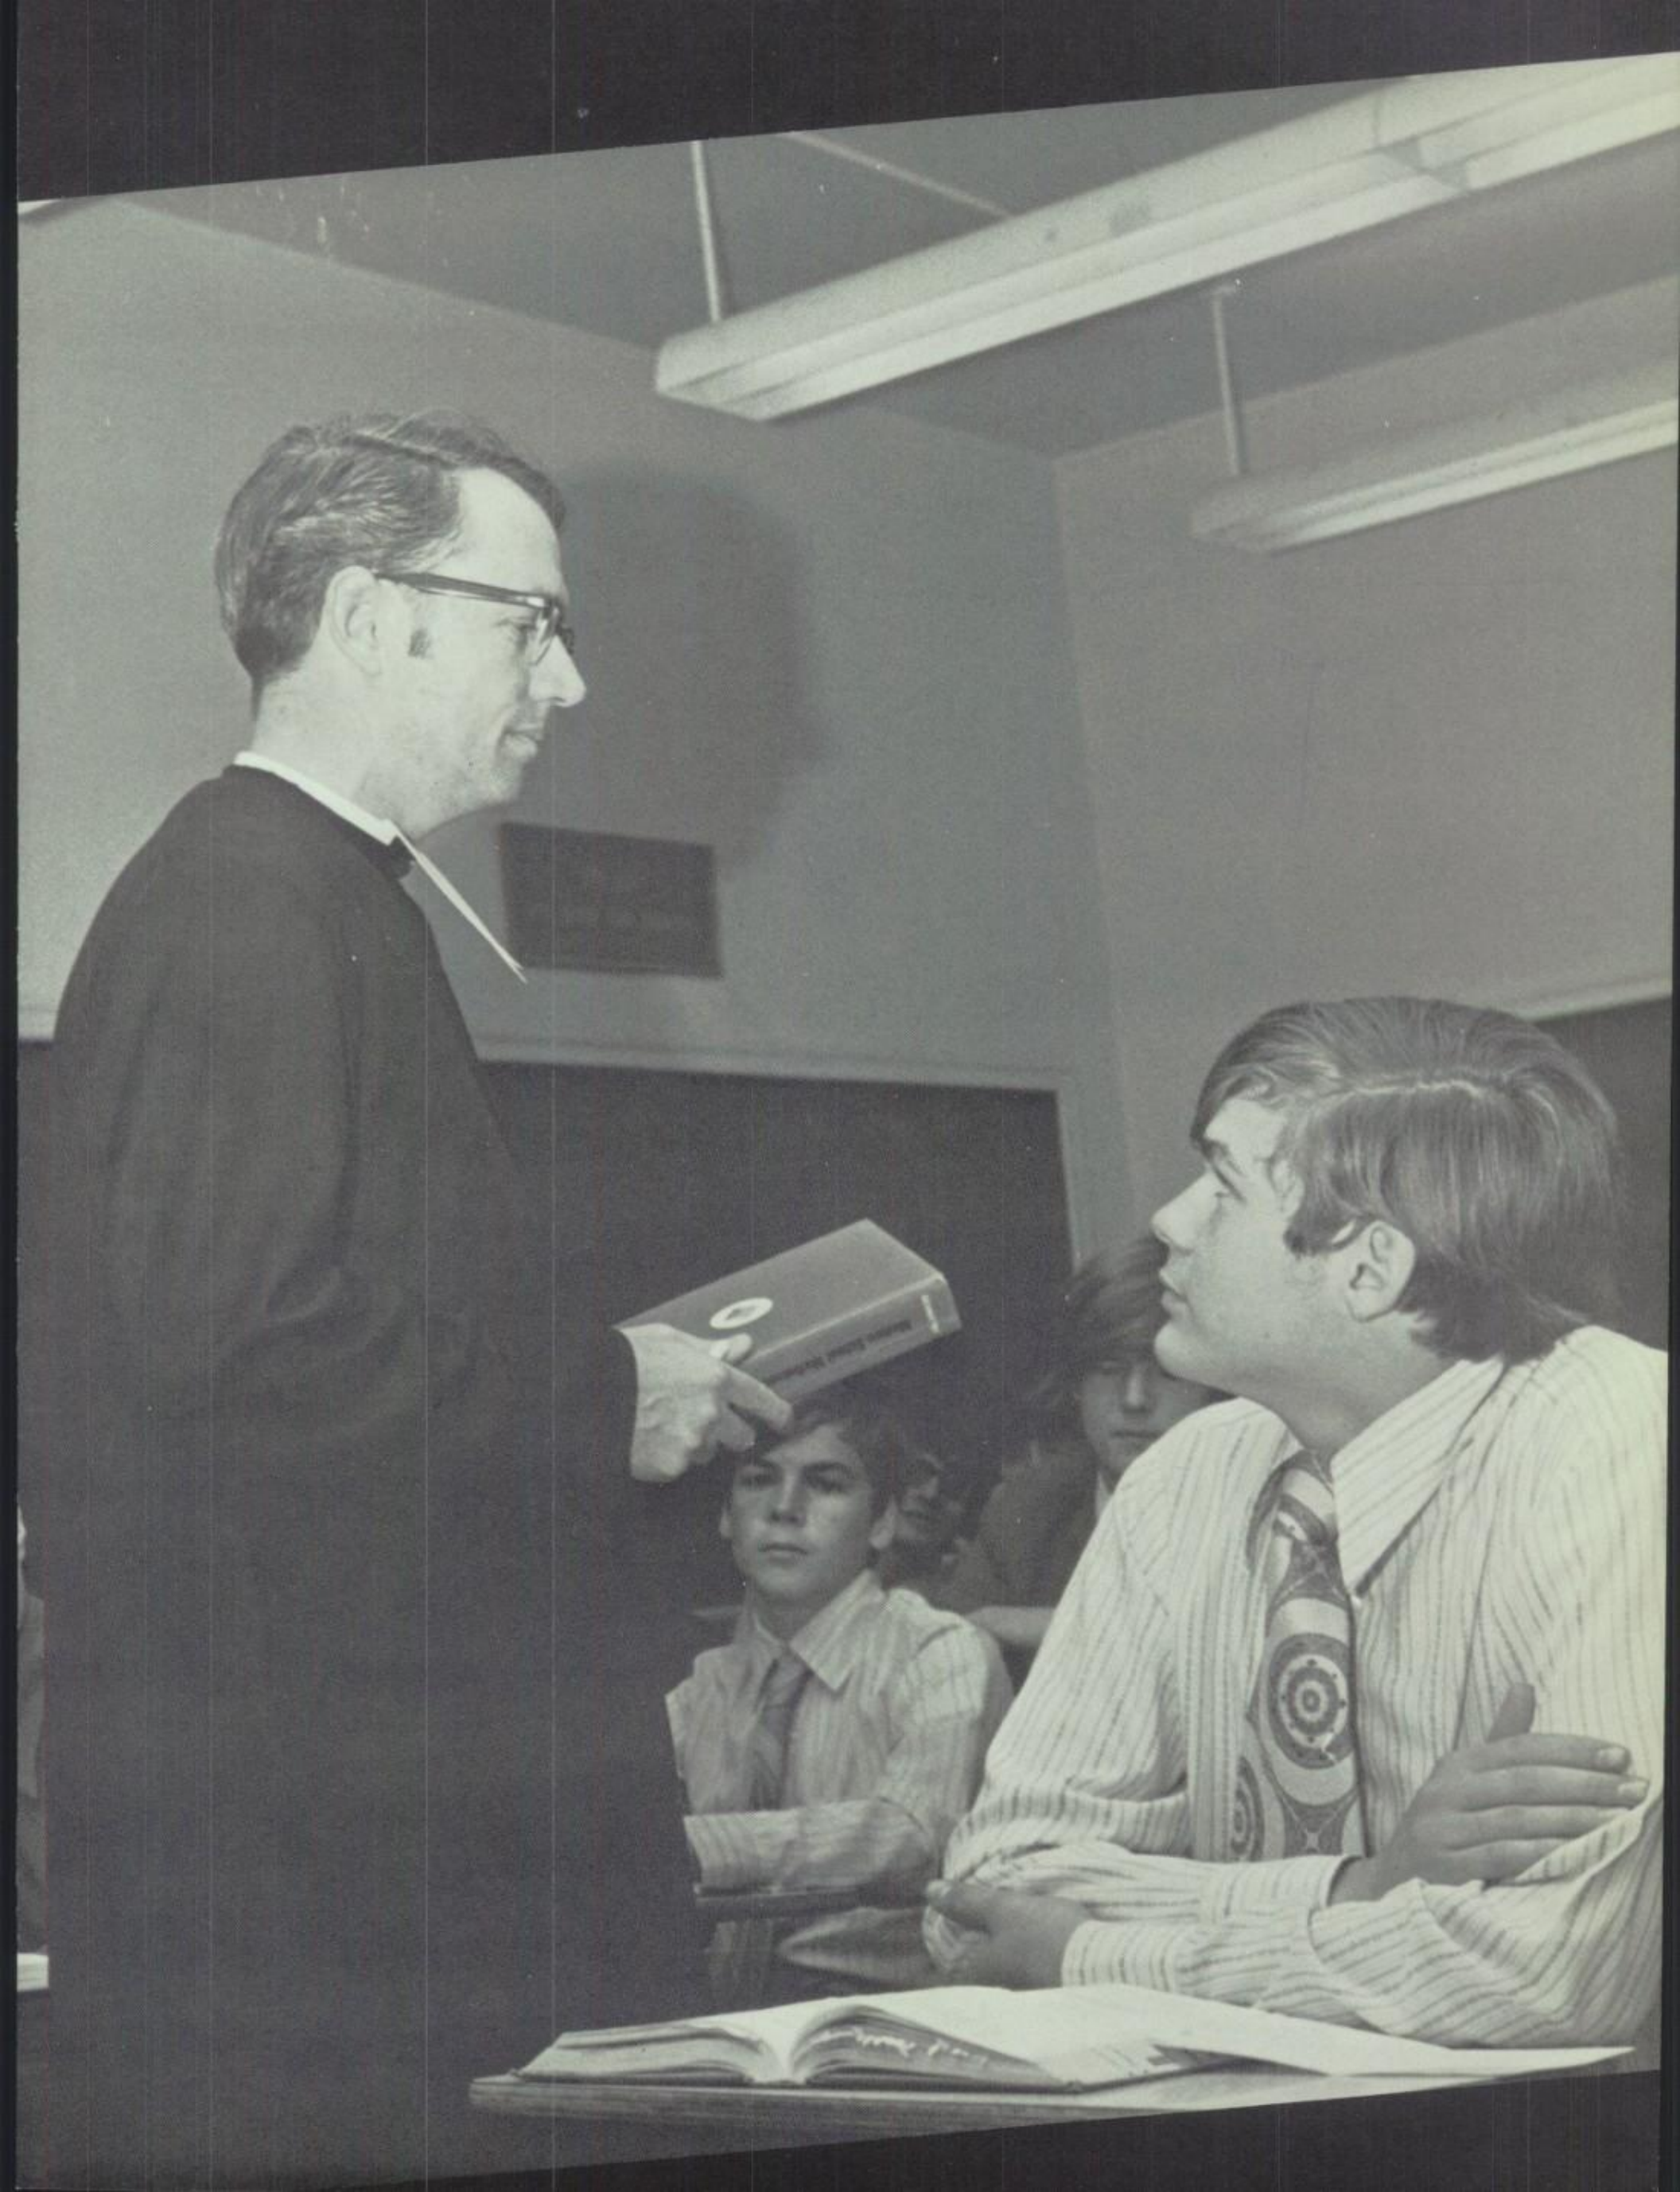

UNDERCLASSES

"Well, I left my happy home to see what I could find out. I left my folk and friends with the aim to clear my mind out. Well I hit the rowdy road, and many kinds I met there, many stories told me of the way to get there. . . . Well in the end I'll know, but on the way I wonder through descending snow, and through the frost and thunder, I listen to the wind come howl, telling me I have to hurry. I listen to the robin's song saying not to worry. So on and on I go, the seconds tick the time out, there's so much left to know, and I'm on the road to find out."

ACTIVITIES

"Go placidly amid the noise & haste, & remember what peace there may be in silence. As far as possible without surrender, be on good terms with all persons. Speak your truth quietly & clearly; and listen to others, even the dull & ignorant; they too, have their story.... If you compare yourself with others, you may become vain & bitter; for always there will be greater & lesser persons than yourself. Enjoy your achievements as well as your plans.... Be yourself."

FORENSICS

Viking gridmen travel to such far-away places
As Wilkinsburg, Mon Valley and Monaco.
Sometimes, chessmen and hoopsters
Leave their homeboards for distant
Troy Hill, South Hills and Lower Hill areas.

But Forensic men are where the action is:
Boston to Miami, New York-Kansas City-L. A., Chicago-Orleans.
Like the ping pong ball,
Their rhetoric may yet breach Peking's wall.

It's a runnin', runnin' world for Forensic men—
Runnin' to practice, runnin' to the airport—always on the wing.
But was 'er a Viking with travel itch so dead
Who yearned not for a dolce vita Forensic trip?

Forensic men generate their brain waves, tongues and body motions
In oratory, debate, extemp, recitation—the whole rhetoric thing.
They are eloquent masters of the craft—or art(?).
Cerebral debaters cut rival syllogisms to bits
With verbal saber, foil and epee.
In extemp, their eloquence is no matter of words,
But of ideas and passion creative.

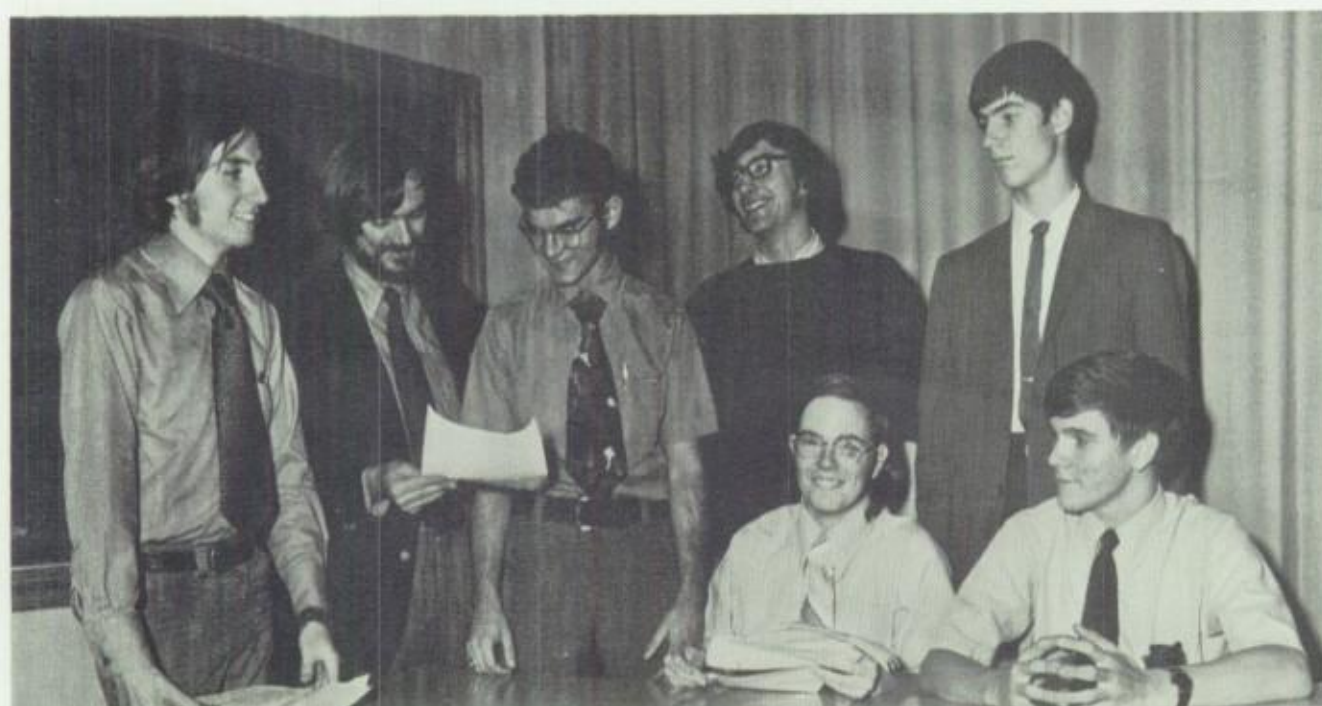

Tournaments have showered accolades too numerous to store:
Trophies of cups, plates, vases, Afro objects d'art, and gargoyles.
Forensic men's virtues of eloquence are widely acclaimed;
Hearing the panegyrics, no one could doubt it.
But you won't hear THEM beat the drum about it(?).

Their guide and inspiration is Aristotle's Rhetoric,
Cicero's De Oratore and their own org man.
He wears a beard so splendid in size,
It makes him look impressively wise.
This bearded seer is diamond-studded Brother Rene.
He is aided by Rinaldo and Warner
And with Beggy, never has there been such splendid rapport.

Forensics? Who are they?—the one "silent" minority that won't shut up.

—Brother Bernardin, F.S.C.

INTRAMURAL COMMITTEE

SPIRIT COMMITTEE

Adhering to the belief that a yearbook should provide the graduate with a maximum recall of his high school years, the 1972 TOWERS staff worked painstakingly to prepare a journal that encompasses all aspects of Central Catholic.

Here Brother Martin moderates the proceedings at a typical TOWERS staff skull session with editors Vince DeFalice, Dave Trichtinger, Bill Wymard and Denny McManus as ideas are bartered, weighed and finally put into print.

"TOWERS"

Cover designer Jim Wheeler and Business Managers Dick Pugh and Art Kimicata keep tabs on the status of under-class sales.

The '72 TOWERS offensive line, Bob Stevenson, Mike Sharbaugh, and Fred DelMonte surround and lay out an evasive two page spread.

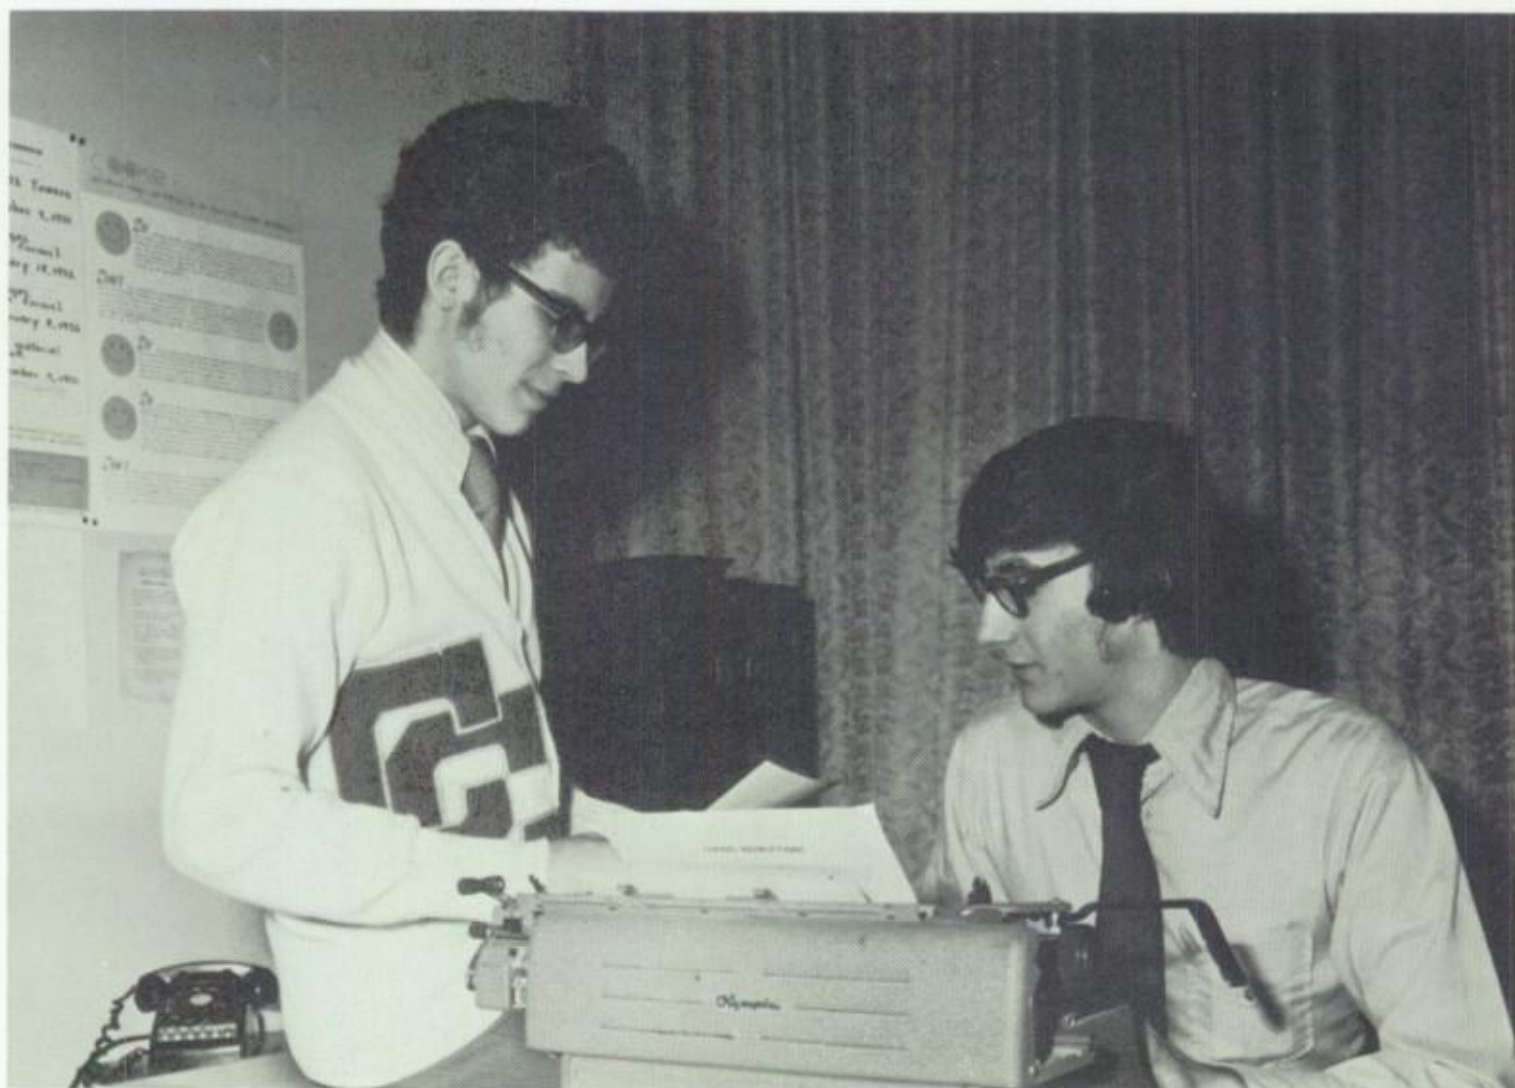

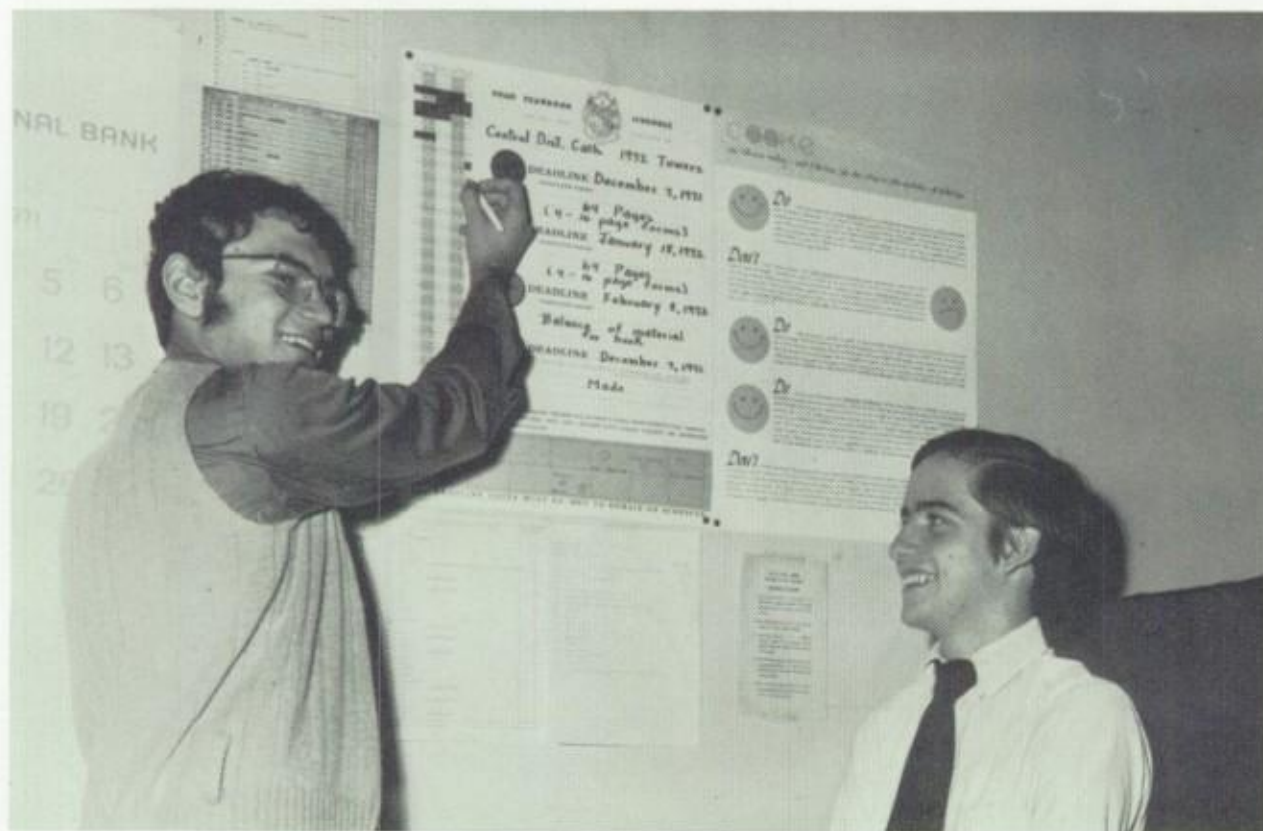

The first floor is jammed with students eager to make their downpayments and reserve their copies of the spectacular 1972 TOWERS.

Staff members Frank Kennedy, Kevin Sweeney, Bob Perego, Rich Sherry and Bill Kabbert prepare for the tedious task of cropping pictures.

"That's right Vince, and when you finish coloring all the little blocks, I'll give you a coloring book to do."

T...O...W...E..."Keep plunking away Bill!"

"VIKING"

In an attempt to keep the students well informed, the VIKING this year has adopted a new publication schedule. Now appearing with a two page monthly edition, the VIKING recounts school activities in addition to presenting issues relevant to the student body. Here Editors Dave Trichtinger and Ed Yurcon and Moderator Brother Benedict beamingly scan an issue prior to distribution.

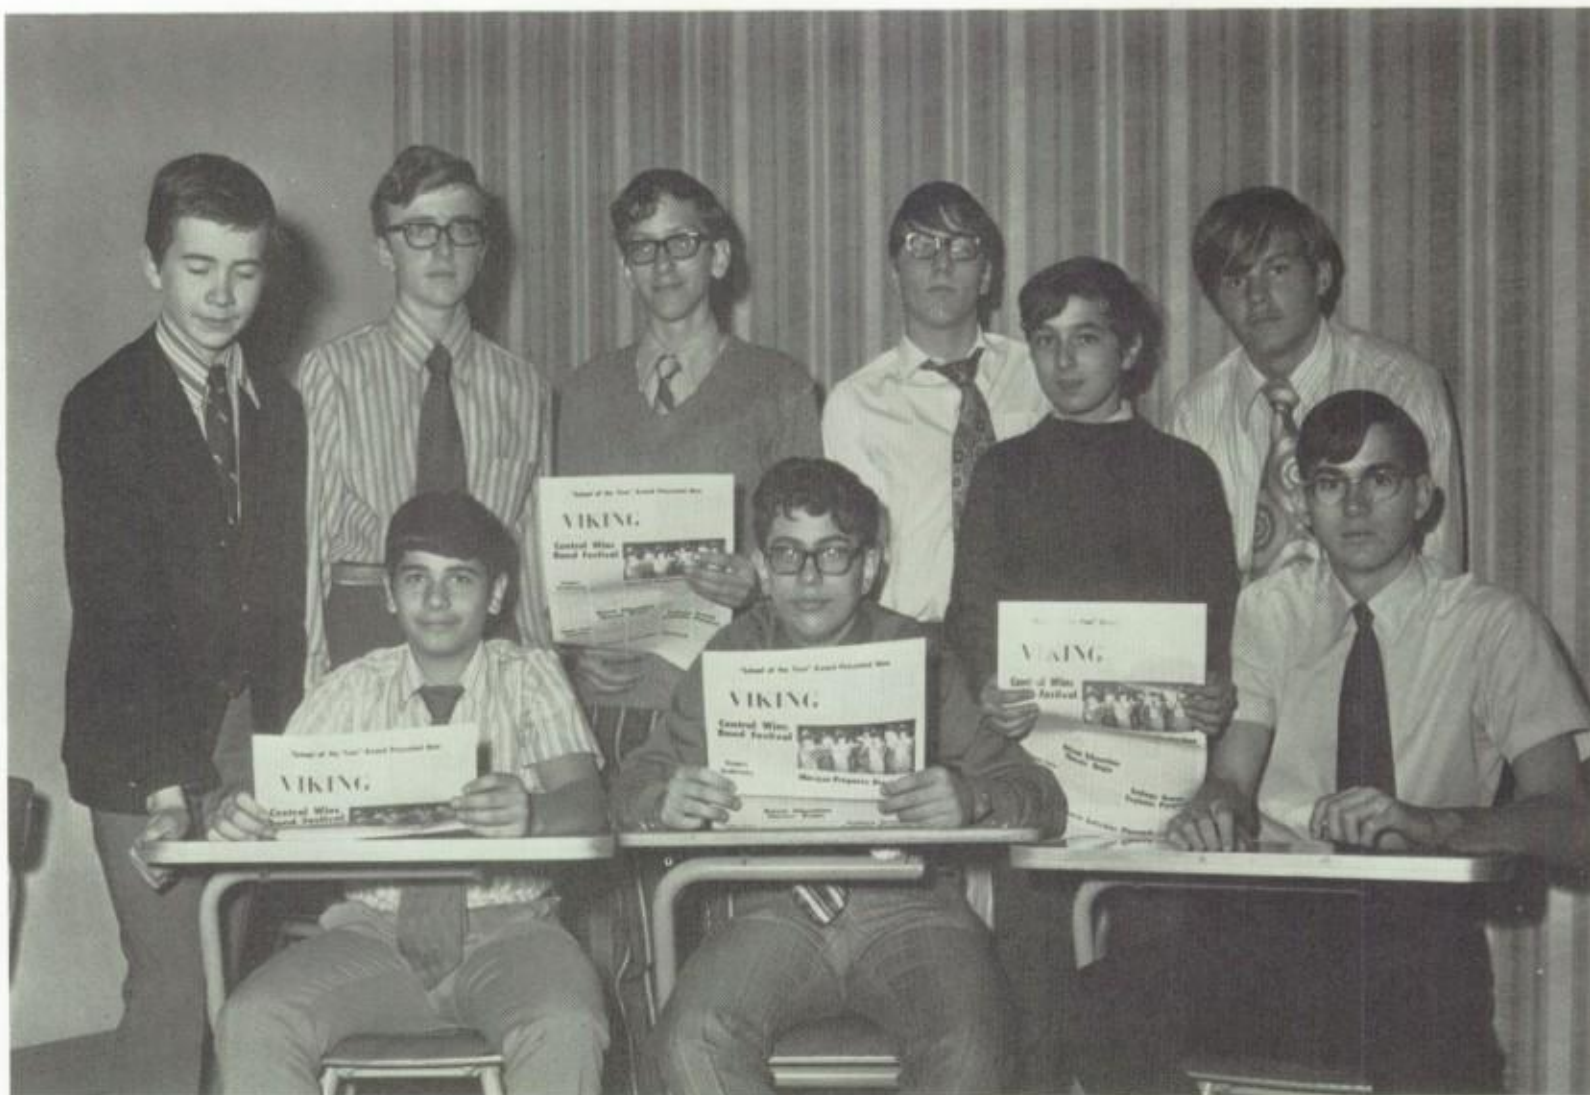

A scrutiny session of senior staff members is in session. SEATED: Greg McKenna, Bill Wymard and Rich Green. STANDING: Denny McManus, John Crawford and John Duckett.

Chris Donnelly (left) uses the helpful hints he got from Hypnosis of the Masses on Tim O'Toole, Felix Burksaze, John Horner and Bob Labriola.

The commentators of the Central scene are sophomores, SEATED: Fran Santucci, Joe Mazzotta and Tery Regan. STANDING: Joel Thompson, John O'Toole, Dave Vertullo, Ed Gannon, Mark DeAndrea and Dick Pugh.

Page One Editor Dave Trichtinger instructs fledgling journalists Craig Varoga, Marty Trichtinger and Photographer Jim Keyho in the rudiments of creative reporting.

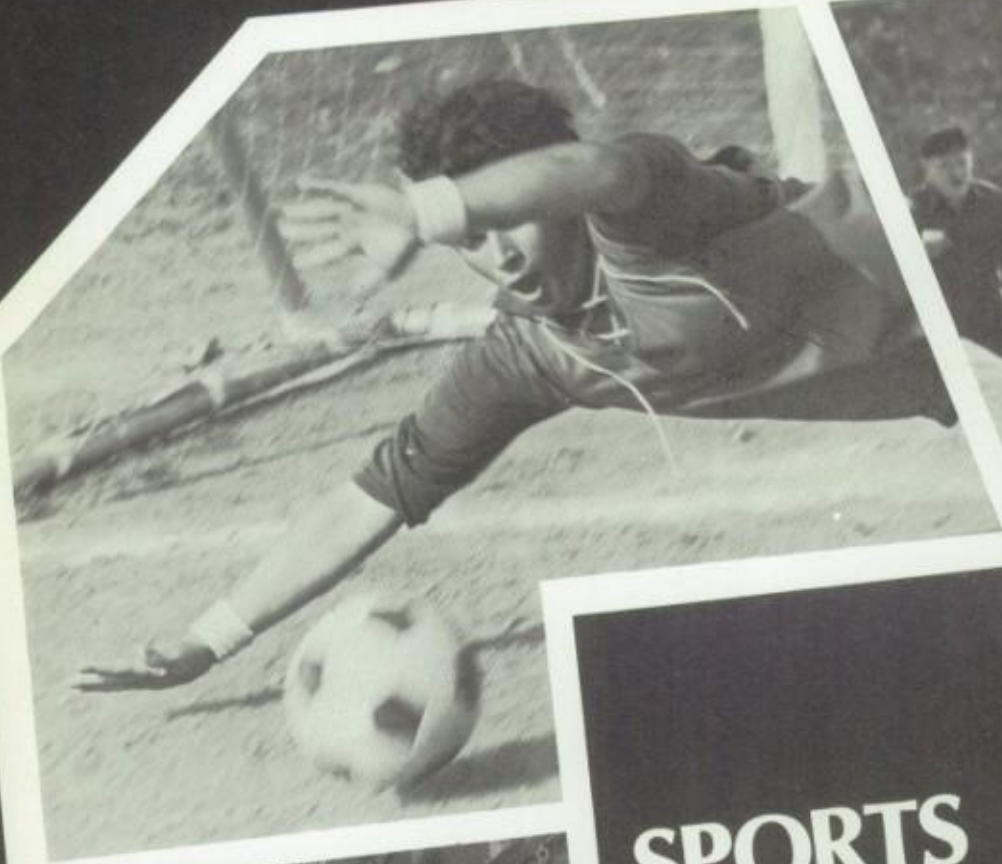

Everyone reads the VIKING!

Always on top of the news, Ed and Dave scan recent issues of all the news that was fit for print.

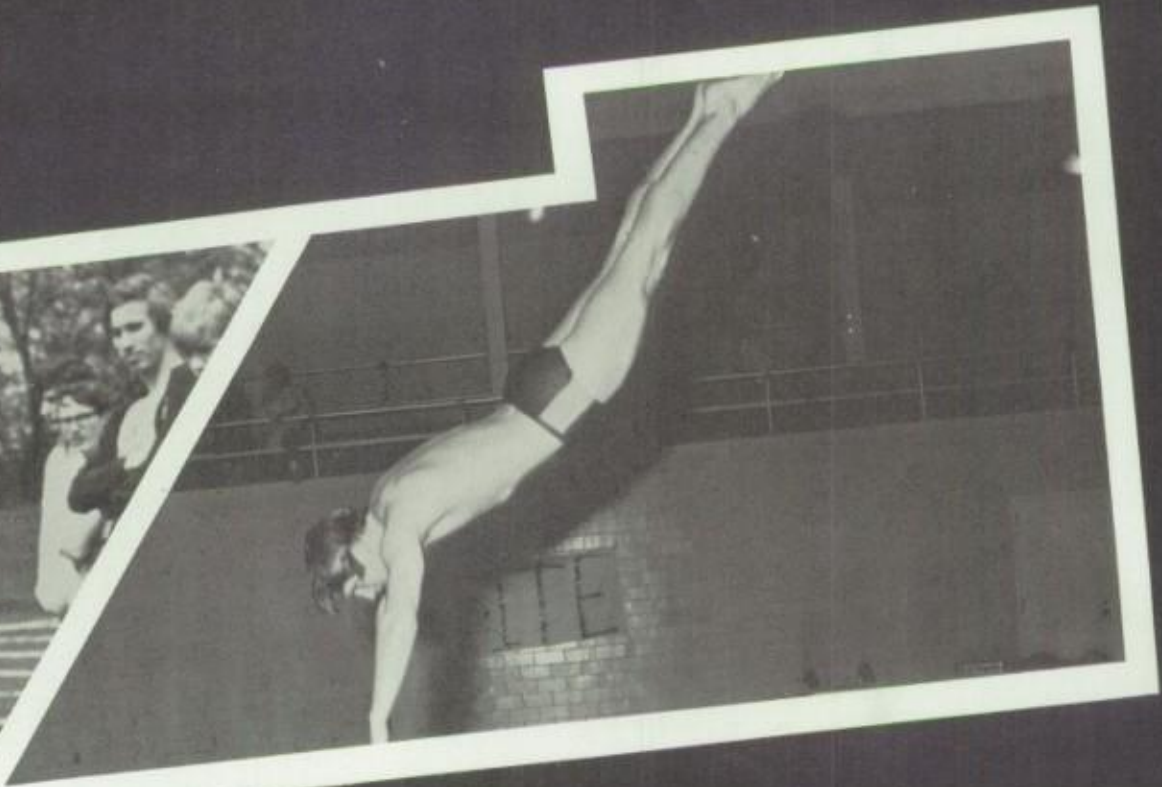

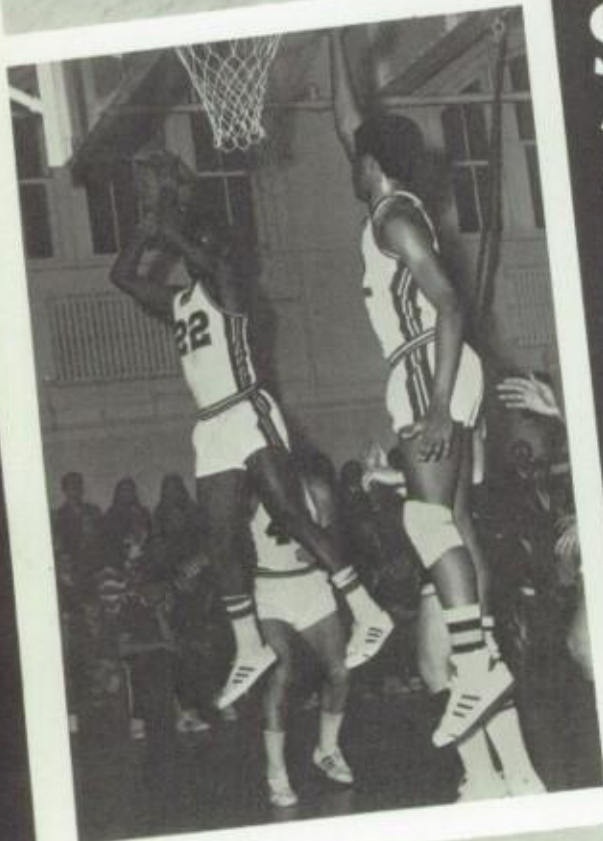

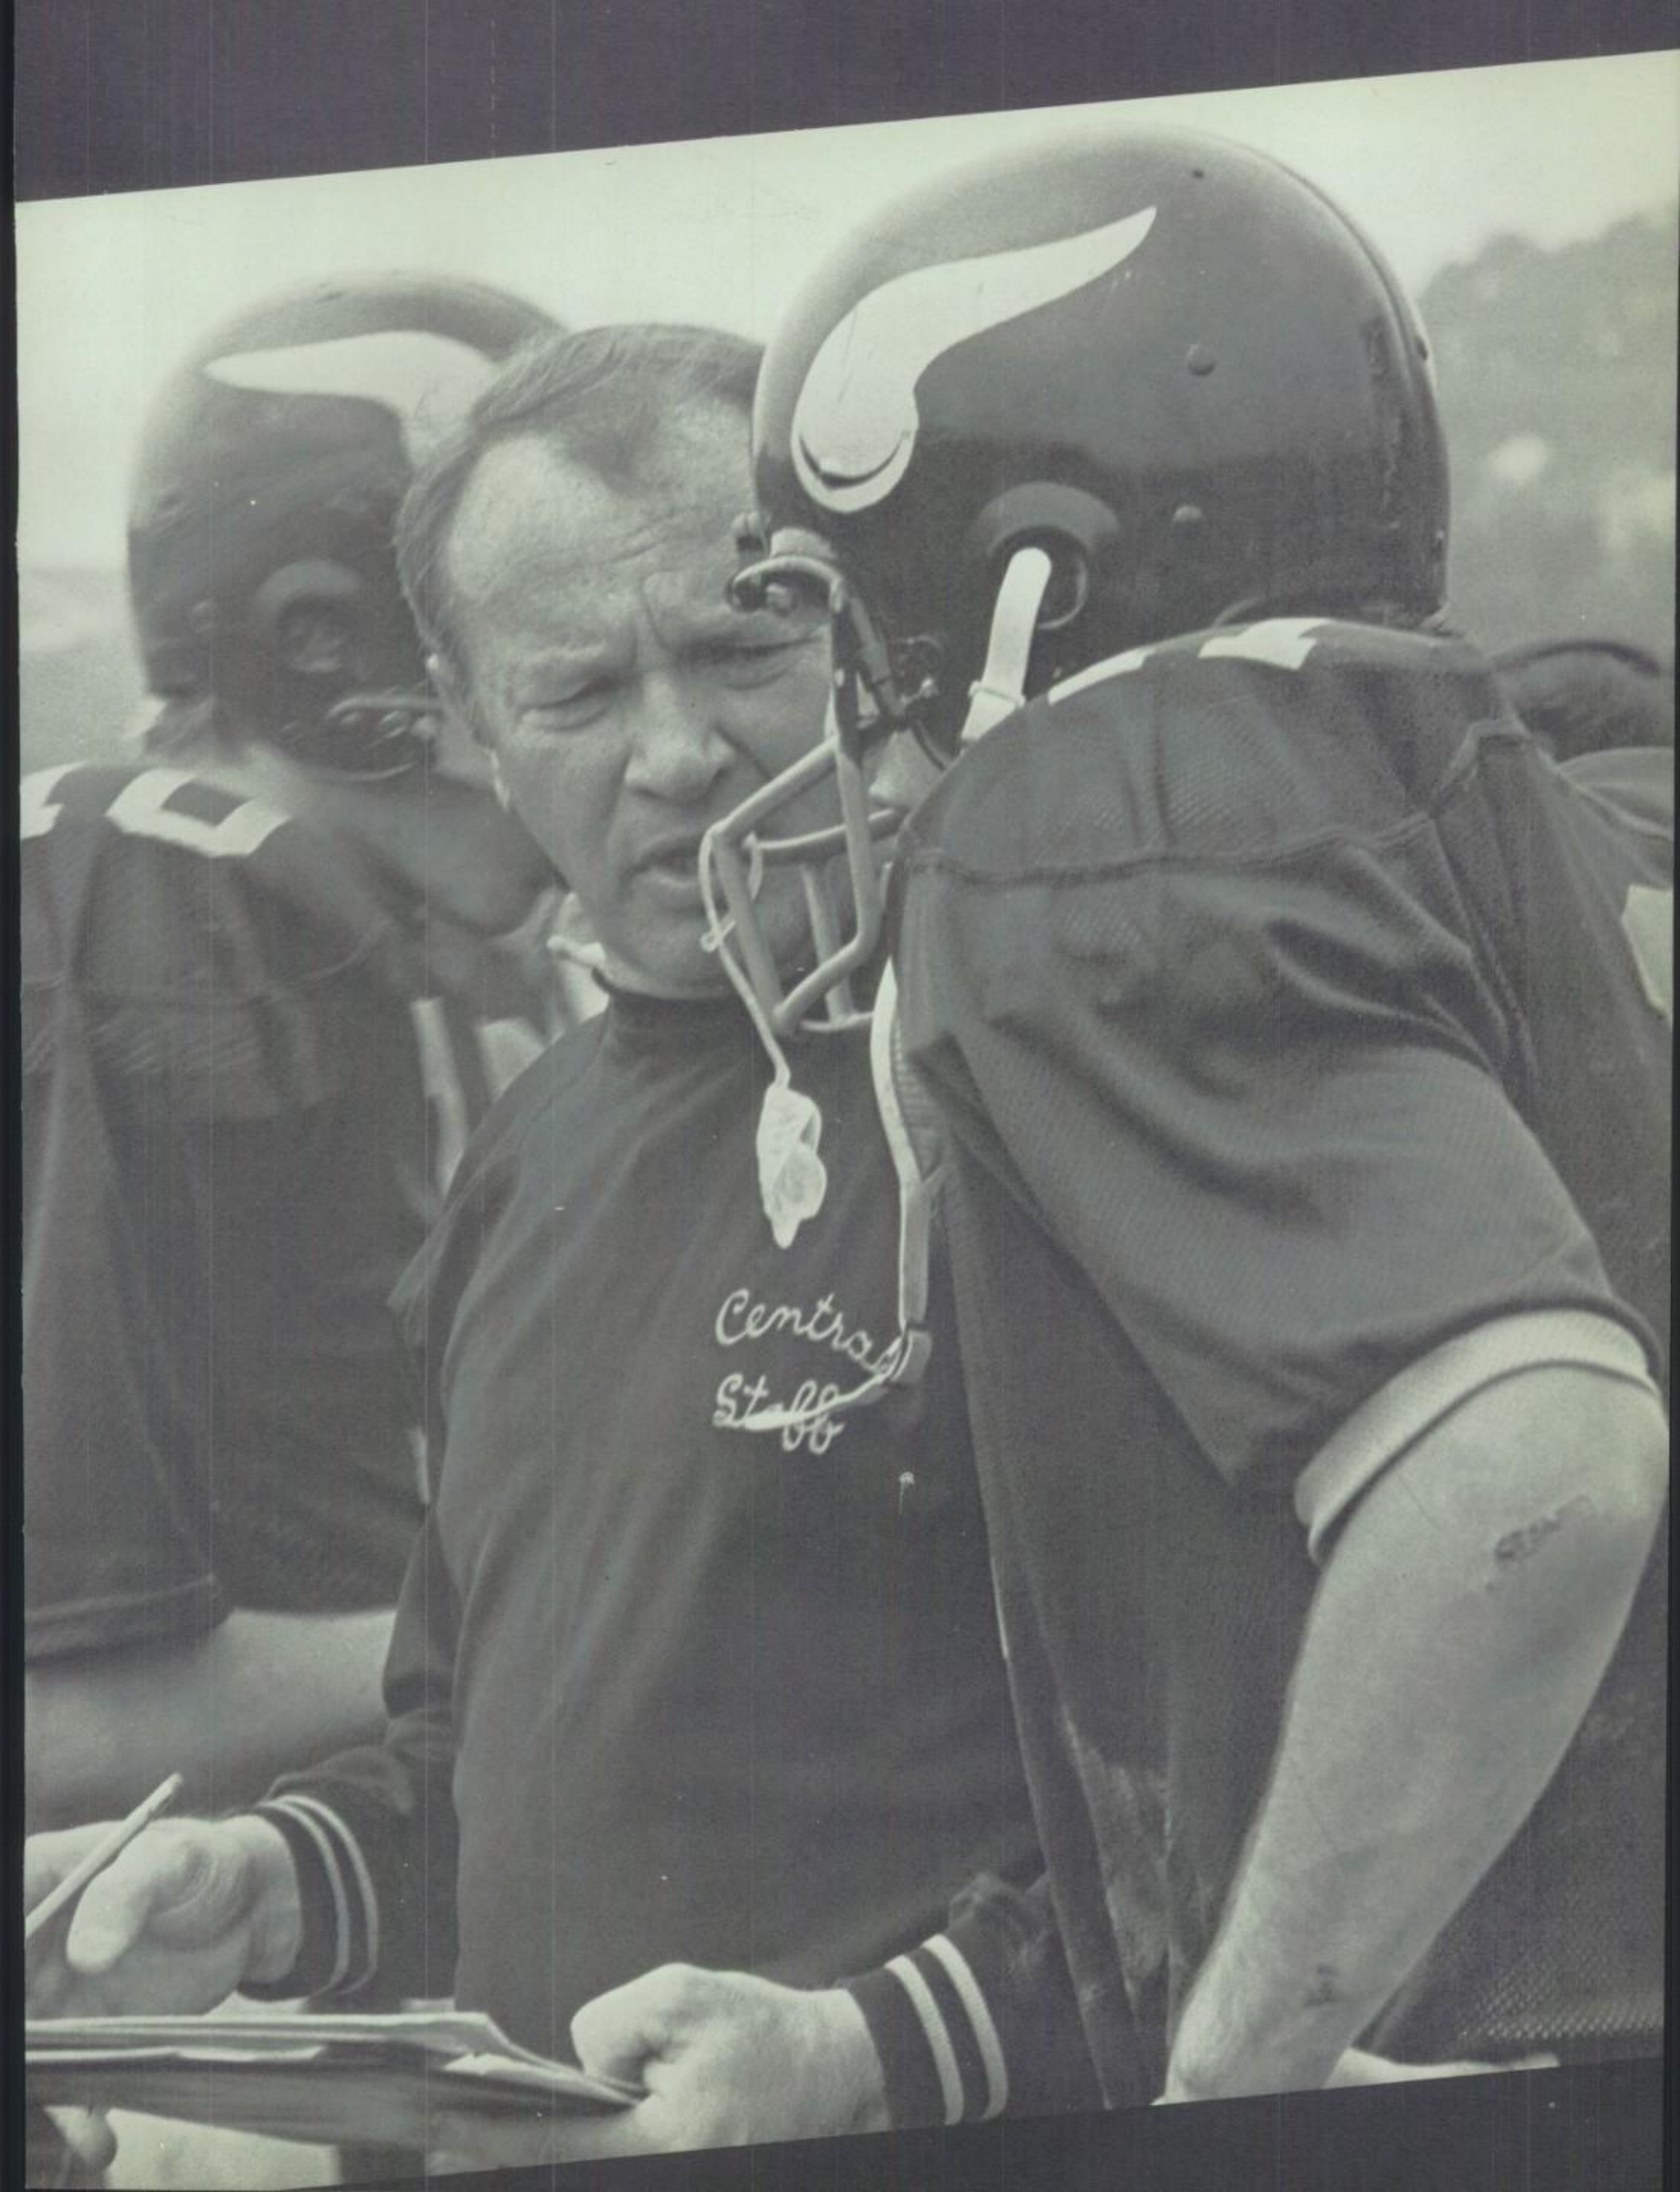

Ed Yurcon ponders the picture-printing press's perfect presentation of print.

"Stand! In the end you'll still be you, for you to bear, things to go through if you are going anywhere."

SENIOR STANDOUTS

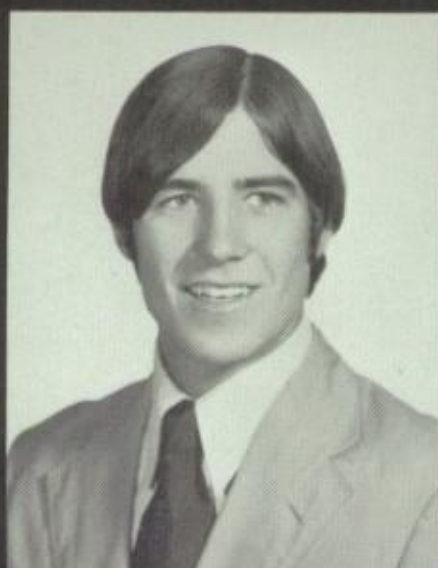

FRANK CRISAFIO—Natural ability, an eternal smile and a penchant for work were rewarded when Frank was elected to spokesman for the Student Council. His unobtrusive yet constant effort both on the Council and in the classroom have marked him as a Senior Standout. An intensity of purpose and maturity of judgment assure him a bright future.

VINCE DeFALICE—A calm, unassuming manner highlights the exterior appearance of Vince. This well-groomed and smooth-talking debater and congressman also competently managed an editorship of this yearbook and committee work in the National Honor Society. Both faculty and fellow students see an amiable, dedicated personality in this Senior Standout.

TOM FITZGERALD—As fleet with generosity as he was of foot, Tom succeeded as an uncompromising pace-setter in Track and Cross Country and more significantly as "Co-Captain of the Appalachia Drive of 1971 which was an overwhelming success thanks to Tom's tireless efforts. Perhaps it's his sense of responsibility but it's a mark of an outstanding Centralite.

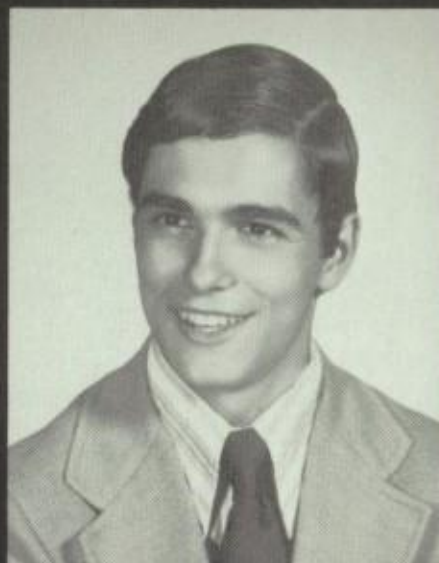

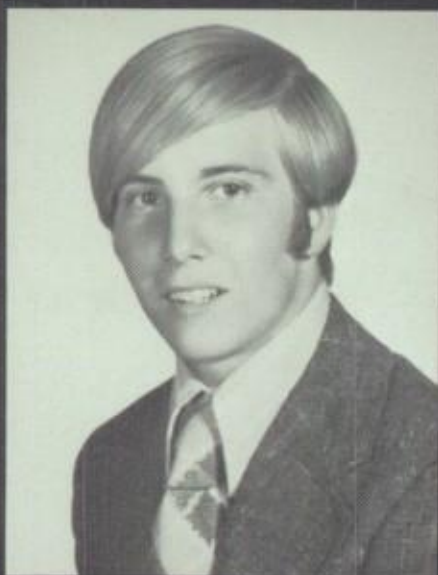

JIM HANLEY—All who have ever known Jim have respected him. This amiable, dedicated senior's high school career was trademarked by a sense of responsibility in the classroom, on the football field, and in the National Honor Society and earned for him the esteem of faculty and fellow students who for three years elected him homeroom president. As a Centralite, Jim excelled.

LEN KUBIAK—Ruggedness and square-jawed determination carried this tight end offensive player to success both on the Viking gridiron and in the academic realm where he maintained consistent first honors for four years and finished among the top ten rank in his class. His simple, silent courage has made him standout as a student, athlete, gentleman, and maybe even more. Len wears these honors well.

CURT MACCHIONI—Sailing around Central on a limitless reserve of energy, this exuberant senior brought bubbling vitality to the Forensic Society and the National Honor Society. Curt could be counted on for an immeasurable degree of effort whether running a debate, tutoring an underclassman in the rudiments of math or maintaining his rank in the top ten academically. Yet he has never become a fixture; he hasn't stood still long enough.

DENNY McMANUS—An efficient executive and editor, this dynamo of energy thrived on the demands of the Presidency of the Forensic Society, a TOWERS editorship, membership on the VIKING and executive committee work of the National Honor Society. Denny's success was derived from a love of work, work not to appease but to fulfill.

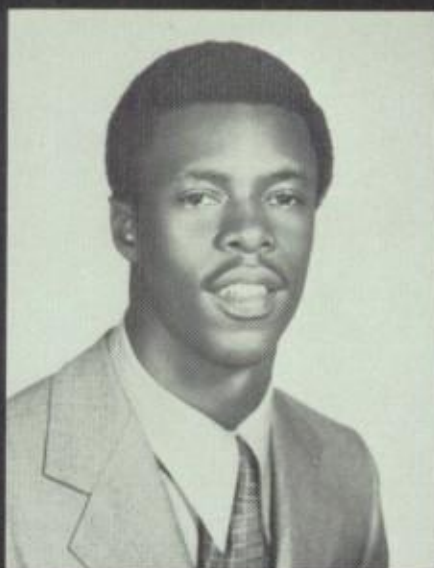

JERRY SCHAUB—Jerry was active on the basketball court, on the National Honor Society and on the Intramural Committee. His friendly mien coupled with his sense of humor won him the respect of others in his scholastic, athletic and extra-curricular affairs. His talent showed itself in subtle but obvious action and made him an outstanding senior.

DAVE TRICHTINGER—Few can be jack-of-all-trades, master of all, but Central's answer to expert versatility is Dave. His multi-faceted talents won him acclaim as Drum Major of the band, Blue Knights saxophonist and orchestra member. As an editor of both the TOWERS and VIKING, his demand for excellence was evident. The frugality Dave forced upon his schedule was so well-managed that he kept his high academic record intact. "Senior Standout" can rightly be added to his accolades.

RIP WARREN—Whether on the gridiron, basketball court or baseball diamond, this unassuming senior excelled and proved himself to be Central's finest athlete. Furthermore, it was Rip's quiet consistency, rather than an outward show of bravado that made him a Senior Standout. By nature imperturbable and good-natured, Rip was a much-sought-after friend. He is an inspiration to his teams and school.

JIM WHEELER—A casual effectiveness and wholesomeness are the trademarks of this tall, talented, soft-spoken senior. He is the kind of person you just can't dislike. By his strength of body and purpose and quiet dedication, Jim left his mark at Central on the wrestling mat, in National Honor Society Committee work and in academics where he ranked first in the Class of 1972.

TOM WOOD—Consistently active in a behind-the-scenes fashion, Tom managed the football team since he was a seventh grader. He also consistently and devotedly turned in service as a highly respected manager of wrestling and basketball scorekeeper, sacrificing a great amount of time and exercising the same friendly authority with which he forced angry quarterbacks to shelve their pads. Woody's invaluable services have won him the esteem of all.

BILL WYMARD—This senior had a penchant for work. Active on the Viking, Towers and National Honor Society, Bill also thrived on the seemingly endless cycle of speech and debate. To all these activities he brought a friendliness and sensitivity that helped provide their success. This sensitivity coupled with academic excellence merit Bill a position among Central's men of the year.

ED YURCON—This amiable senior got things done. Motivated by a strong desire to succeed, this outstanding extemporaneous speaker, secretary of the National Honor Society, VIKING editor and superior student demanded and received excellence from himself and those about him. But what was disarming about Ed was his joviality and enthusiasm. His consistent effort has placed him in the esteem of both teachers and students.

IN MEMORIAM

ROBERT M. ALTENBAUGH

...of St. Bede Parish, died as a freshman of our class in 1969.

BRO. ANTHONY GREWAY, F.S.C.

12 Years of Service to Central

The greatest compliment to be paid to any educator is the title "teacher." Brother Anthony Greway has been the epitome of the merit "teacher" during his twelve years at Central District Catholic High School. In his years as a mathematics and religion instructor, Brother Anthony guided hundreds of Central students. Yet, the true extent of Brother's career as a teacher has been further typified during his five years as principal of the school.

We all have learned from this remarkable individual. Brother Anthony's deep, sincere interest in the community of Central Catholic superceded passive interest. The door of Office A was always open to any student, at any time. However, Brother Anthony's presence was seldom guaranteed. He could be found among the students in the corridors or the cafeteria, always with a warm smile and sincere greeting. Brother Anthony chose to tackle the task of getting to know the students on a personal level, despite the near impossibility of that goal. He personified Christian concern and friendliness.

Since 1967, under the able direction of Brother Anthony, Central underwent a transformation toward dynamic education in the form of a broadened and individualized program of independent study and a wide range of elective courses plus numerous physical improvements and general educational excellence which bore his stamp.

A few paragraphs cannot tell of zeal, or generosity or patience. They cannot express devotion or kindness. They cannot speak of brotherliness. But we know when we have met them. And we have met them in our principal.

Perhaps the true measure of Brother Anthony's character can be seen in his decision to resign as principal. After spending five years as chief administrator of Central, he felt that he had given all he could give and that it was time to step aside and let another man take over. Such unselfish decisions characterize him. What we lose will be great, but we are grateful for the chance to have known him. For we have met a Christian "teacher" and gentleman.

To this fine man of strongly motivated ideals and convictions we say thanks.

Things happen as time progresses. The world changes year by year and so does Central Catholic. As the beneficiaries of change, we are witnesses to many things: independent study, modular schedules, Day Zero's, the Appalachia Drive, extra-curricular excellence and superb athletic endeavor, all within the brief years we spend at Central. We travel the inroads of time from frightened freshmen to sophisticated sophomore to upperclass junior and finally, an arrived senior. We change. Hopefully the education, guidance and friendship which are part of Central aid us in changing positively. However, time remains unmoved by virtue and will keep still for no man. We, like time, must go on.
